[1]As of October 5, 2015, in Hungarian Electronic Library you can read a trilingual publication reviewing a series of documentaries, made by director duo Katalin Petényi and Barna Kaba and Bence Gyöngyössy, on Italian-Hungarian art relations and the history of common cultural heritage.

The series of documentaries made for Expo Milano 2015, consisting of ten plus one parts, will also be broadcast by Duna Television during the autumn season.

Episodes of the series of documentaries make viewers acquainted with the history of the Hungarian Academy in Rome, with poet Imre Gyöngyössy, conductor Zoltán Peskó, writer Zsuzsa Szőnyi and painter Mátyás Triznya, a couple who, for decades, had made their home in Rome a meeting point of Hungarians arriving from any country of the world, with art historian Károly Tolnay, sculptor Róbert Csíkszentmihályi, architect Miklós Ybl, painter Imre Ámos and with the activity of Béres Pharmaceuticals distributing Béres Drops.
